

Gong music crafts and imports traditional southeast asian gongs, xylophones, metallophones, drums, and many other percussion, wind, and string instruments.

Located at our store we also have a museum and musical sculpture garden that is open to the public and managed in partnership with San Francisco recreation and Parks department. We are also open to school tours of our museum and park.

Once a month, performances of traditional music in the sculpture garden are available for the public to watch for free!

OUR CRAFTSPEOPLE AND MUSICIANS

We work with Craftspeople and musicians from all over Southeast Asia and in the US to craft our instruments with care and quality and to support the communities of our craftspeople by promoting their culture and their livelihoods.

We are non-profit and all our funds go to supporting education and preservation of culture and protection of the environment both in Southeast Asia and in the San Francisco Bay Area. Without our planet, we would have no music!
